President's Message

Dear Colleagues, Greetings to all! I am happy to share that we are very determined to publish our E-News Letter regularly. The significant academic activities conducted so far need to be shared with one and all. Hope it inspires all of us to organise more and more 'outcome oriented' activities in the future. It is the second issue of E-News Letter being published by our new team. Though it includes most of the achievements made by the members of RSA along with the academic events organised for the enhancement of the discipline, however I would like to mention about a workshop, which was organised recently (November 23-25, 2018) at the Department of Sociology, Government Girls Arts College Kota. It is to emphasise that the workshop was far away from the modern ritual.

The efforts made during the workshop would be better revealed through the post-performance of the participants. We observed that all participants were excited to contribute for some publication at one level or the other. That is very encouraging for the organisers. It also indicates that RSA is committed to carry forward an academic friendly atmosphere in all academic institutions of Rajasthan by way of organising short term training programmes (workshops). An example is being set to spread a message that RSA has been making efforts to develop the skills of good researcher as well as to develop writing skills among the scholars of Social Sciences in general and the scholars of Sociology in particular. In this regard some necessary guidelines and modules have also been prepared by our team. We plan to provide an open platform for those emerging scholars who have enough potential to take research projects, conduct independent research, interested to write research articles and would like to get it published in reputed journals. We shall be able to materialise all that with your help. Please come forward, keep in touch with our team and be the partner in the academic endeavour of RSA.

I believe that you might have registered for the participation in XXV RSA conference going to be held on December 20-21, 2018. Welcome to XXV RSA conference. Hope to see you at Government Girls Arts College, Kota (Rajasthan) for useful and lively deliberations.

With warm regards and best wishes.

Editorial

Dear All RSA members,
 Greeting from RSA!

We feel encouraged by your appreciation of the previous issue of the newsletter. We are also very happy to share with you the XI issue of our newsletter in e-form. Perhaps for the first time, RSA is bringing it twice in a year. We will try to continue this effort so that dialogue with members is frequent and strong.

As informed earlier, the RSA website (www.rsaraj.org) is revamped and significantly it now hosts back volumes of Rajasthan Journal of Sociology and newsletters too. Hope that some of the members who somehow could not receive journal volumes in the past can now download a copy. Our membership base is reasonably growing and soon you will get the updated list of members too from the website.

The current newsletter provides glimpses of activities undertaken by the sociological fraternity in the state during July to December 2018 as well as scheduled activities of RSA.

Hope you will give same appreciation to this issue too. Look forward to your constant feed of news and activities which are the mainstay of this effort.

With warmest regards!

RSA Writers' Workshop- 2018

The first writers' workshop during this new EC was conducted by Department of Sociology, Government Arts Girls College, Kota during 23rd -25th November, 2018. It was a pilot case for testing the in-house module developed by RSA after series of consultations and feedback from experts in Rajasthan and outside. We are pleased to share that module and related exercises very successfully achieved the intended objectives. Most of the thirty participants were able to send their abstracts for the RSA conference 2018 within 2-3 days after the workshop and have started working on their full paper for presentation or publication.

As intended we focused on a small group of interested and hardworking participants who relentlessly worked on various individual and group exercises for three days and showed strong sense of interest and satisfaction.

Organizing Secretary Dr. Parul Singh along with colleagues of the department, principal and administrative staff of the college showcased inspiring leadership, enthusiasm and organizing skills during the workshop. RSA hopes and intends to replicate similar exercises on regular basis in other divisions and remote parts of Rajasthan for the benefit of academic fraternity.

ABOUT CONFERENCE

Contemporary India : Prospects, Challenges and Responses

Contemporary India has witnessed rapid transformation in almost all walks of life, particularly in last three decades. This transformation is the outcome of combined impact of economic liberalisation, globalisation, modernisation and information-technology revolution. As a result our economy and society have been developing at a faster pace.

India is the world's sixth-largest economy by nominal GDP and the third-largest by purchasing power parity (PPP). The long-term growth prospective of the Indian economy is positive due to its young population, corresponding low dependency ratio, healthy savings and investment rates, and increasing integration into the global economy.

India's economic growth in coming decades has a huge potential if we properly utilize our natural and human resources. But there are many issues which need to be seriously deliberated upon in this Conference.

At present there are around 31 million unemployed in India. This number is going to increase as every year millions of youth after completing their education will enter the job market. It is estimated that by 2050 around 90 crore people are going to live in urban areas. How to provide for such large population without adversely affecting our environment.

In India, we observe that an economy of rich metro cities is surging and poor villages are decaying. Hence, there is an immediate need to reduce the gap between these two areas.

Crimes against women, child-abuse and neglect of our senior citizens are the issues of great social concern. India's National Crime Record Bureau reported 338,954 crimes against women, including 38,947 rapes in 2016. In India, a child is sexually abused every 15 minutes, according to the latest government figures. Numbers of old-age homes are rising in India, despite the tradition of joint-family.

Today, our country is riddled with a number of environmental concerns which have only aggravated in the last few decades. It is high time we tackle these issues head on as turning a blind eye is no solution.

There are many other concerns like the role of media, growing impact of social media, widening gap between rich and poor, which are supposed to draw the attention of our scholars. It is expected that two days deliberations on these pertinent issues will definitely bring to the fore relevant conclusions, which may be of great use for our policy makers.
